

Platform Drafting Supplants Battle For Party's Favor

Clapper Sees Personalities of Smith and Hoover as Biggest Issue in November Contest.

DEMOCRATS TO GET SHORT DOCUMENT

Few Delegates To Be Named During Week; Smith Adds Sixteen To Push Total Above 600.

By Raymond Clapper. Washington, May 20.—(United News.)—Everything the democrats do at the Houston convention will be dominated by the thought of most of the delegates and party leaders that this time the party has a real chance of winning.

Whether they are justified or not, the fact is that most democratic leaders feel that for the first time since 1912 they have an even break for the white house. Accordingly, the tendency is against any such acts of desperation as featured the 1924 convention.

The democrats are plainly adopting the poise and caution which the republicans have monopolized during the last two presidential campaigns.

This will have its effect in the drafting of the platform. In 1924 the party nearly engaged in a riot over the proposed plank denouncing the Klan. Feeling was so tense that policemen were stationed in a ring around the delegates. Hot words came near to blows in many delegations.

Prohibition Only Snags. No such scene will be made at Houston if the leaders can control the convention. The only platform controversy in sight now is over prohibition and unless the southern drys demand more than they have in previous years everything will be as peaceful as a convention of cooling doves.

Smith's managers have definitely put aside the idea of trying to commit the party to modification of the Volstead act. They want only a law enforcement plank. Smith has his own ideas and he doubtless will advocate them if he should be nominated. But it is not in the cards to open up this fight at the convention. What the Smith group wants now above everything else is harmony. That is the reason Smith has refused to enter into any pre-convention speaking campaign. Once he opened his mouth he would be forced to state his attitude on prohibition, which would fan up the controversy.

Democratic leaders are giving thought now to the platform. They hope to make it short and very general. No novel proposals which might disturb political currents will be permitted to get into the platform. The party may be expected to condemn the Export-Import bill and the connection of republican party leaders with the Continental Trading company profits. The protective tariff will be criticized. The protective tariff.

LINDY OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY OF FLIGHT TO PARIS

New York, May 20.—(United News.)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh spent a quiet day with friends in New York on the first anniversary of his historic solo flight from Roosevelt Field, L. I., to Paris. At 7:51:20 a. m. May 20, 1927, Lindbergh, then a captain in the Missouri national guard, took off on his now-famous flight in "the Spirit of St. Louis." At 10:20 p. m. May 21, he landed on Le Bourget field, Paris.

In the year the young flier has accomplished three outstanding things, not including his remarkable flight from New York to Paris. First, he has made not only America but the entire world air-minded. Second, he has done much to promote international good will. Third, he has been a great inspiration to the youth of the world.

Shanghai, China, May 20.—(Special.)—A note to the United States on Friday handed that government a note concerning the protection of American lives and property in north China. Edwin S. Cunningham, American consul general here, delivered the note, which was signed by the Chinese government.

The note read essentially as follows: "Since the civil war has reached a crisis in north China and in view of the fact that many Americans reside in that area, apprehension is felt for their safety."

The United States has taken measures to assure the protection of its nationals and their concentration where protection is possible. Please inform the Chinese government of the fact that many Americans reside in that area, apprehension is felt for their safety.

BREMEN CRASHES LEAVING GREENEELY

After Being Repaired For Flight to New York Famous Ship Is Badly Damaged.

Halifax, N. S., May 20.—(P.)—The trans-Atlantic liner Bremen was 40 per cent demolished today in an attempt by Fred Melchor, Junkers expert, to fly the stranded ship from the Labrador coast to aid in bringing the plane out of the section where it landed April 13 after the first westward crossing of the north Atlantic ocean.

Melchor was dropped by parachute to the mainland near Greenely Island yesterday by one of two United States amphibian airplanes that flew to the Labrador coast to aid in bringing the plane out of the section where it landed April 13 after the first westward crossing of the north Atlantic ocean.

In a message sent to Miss Herta and Paul, daughter of the late Senator, the Bremen, Melchor said he escaped injury in his attempt to fly the Bremen to the mainland.

TRAGEDY STUNS PENNSYLVANIANS

Rescue Crews Give Up Hope for All Men Still Held in Gas-Filled Chambers.

Mather, Pa., May 20.—(P.)—With rescue crews striving to reach the bodies of miners still entombed in the Saturday mine, where an explosion late Saturday brought known deaths to 36 workers and uncertain fate to some 110 others, residents of this village prepared to forego sleep a second night.

No bodies had been brought from the workings since shortly before 9 o'clock and mine rescue experts had definitely given up hope for those workers still trapped behind piles of slate and coal.

Families of the Mather employees as yet unaccounted for displayed no trace of anxiety which must be theirs, but with the stoicism that is the heritage of miners' kin, kept dry-eyed vigil either at their homes, congregated at street corners, or at the meeting hall that is part of every mining village.

Women of the town remained at the pit mouth throughout the night, standing bareheaded in the rain, silent, their eyes wild in wonder as fresh masked rescuers went in and out and in and out for a few minutes of rest.

Number of Dead Unknown Here

State troopers held the crowds in check, keeping the curious a quarter of a mile back. Their task was not an easy one, for the good weather caused thousands to flock to the scene today. Roads were jammed with automobiles and it was with great difficulty that the troopers could keep them out of the way of the rescuers. One trooper suggested to drive a dog away from the shaft. The animal refused to leave, returning time and again. Finally the trooper gave up, remarking "I guess his master is down below."

It was impossible to determine the exact number of men in the mine when the death dealing blast came. At the time the explosion came, the day men were about to leave the mine. Some other bodies were inside, prepared to take up their tasks. Unofficial check-ups showed that 100 miners were under ground at the time. Of that number, 120 were listed as missing, 36 known dead, and a Wayneburg hospital in critical condition and one escaped.

Bodies Buried and Mangled. The recovered dead, brought to the surface by rescue teams, were taken to the mine machine shop, where undertakers from all parts of the mining field were on duty. Here the bodies were prepared for burial and identification. Some other bodies were mangled and seven were unidentified.

Fifteen rescue crews equipped with masks to ward off the poisonous after-damp and gas tonight had fought their way through the debris-strewn passageways. Their progress was slow, and they were forced to build air locks at intervals so as to flood the explored section with fresh air. Working in shifts, the rescuers progressed during the night and today to a point near where the terrific explosion occurred.

Behind this point it was believed most of the missing men would be found and, as one veteran rescuer put it, "the chances of getting them out alive are slim."

Explosion Far From Shaft

It was believed that the explosion—attributed by some to gas—had occurred at the fourteenth but, near one and three-quarters miles from the main shaft.

A ray of hope given these mining people last night was blasted today when two rescuers brought out the body of Tom Callaghan, assistant mine boss. Callaghan, working near the shaft when the blast occurred, was killed.

NEGRO BOY DIES OF WOUND CAUSED BY STRAY BULLET

Thomas Kelly, 3-year-old negro boy of 661 Connally street, died at Grady hospital late Sunday afternoon about an hour after he had been struck in the head by a bullet from a gun in the hands of Mathia Glenton, negro, of 507 1-2 Connally avenue.

According to police reports the boy was walking along Connally street near his home when a stray bullet struck him as the Glenton woman fired at another negro woman who identifies has not been learned. The Glenton woman disappeared before officers arrived on the scene of the shooting and late Sunday night had not been located by police.

Call Officers W. A. Goode and J. S. Melton investigated.

Whenever a customer whose trade I don't want to lose asks me which is the best malt to buy, I say: "Budweiser."

Of course, I can't give any premiums with Bud or any cans free for a few labels. There's too much real quality in the product for that. BUT . . .

RADIO-ING The Air Waves.

BY THE DIAL TWISTER.

The national finals in Washington on May 26 to select America's champion for the third international oratorical contest, this fall will be broadcast through the National Broadcasting company's Red network stations. Seven district winners, chosen in contests by 53 newspapers, including The Constitution, will be in the finals.

The radio hook-up will be linked from 7:15 to 9 o'clock. The winner in the contest will represent the United States against champion high school orators of seven other nations at the international finals in Washington October 13.

In the May 26 broadcast, Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce and leading republican candidate for the presidency, will deliver the principal address. Reinhold Werrenath, noted baritone, and the United States marine band will give the musical program. All in all, the program will be an "off the beat" feature which most of us like to tune in on because they are different.

WGST, Georgia Tech's station, will be on the air tonight with a piano and violin recital consisting of many of the old masters. David Goldwasser will be at the piano and play compositions of Bach, Schumann, Chopin and Macdowell. Miss June Ulmer will assist with violin numbers of Massenet, Schubert, Beethoven and Thomas.

Old war songs will be on the Riverside hour tonight, with hand and solo numbers which will recall times of long years. The Tramps, Tramp, Tramp, "Break the News to Mother" and "Just Before the Battle, Brother."

Myron Warner, Atlanta tenor who will leave soon to prepare for his operatic debut in Italy, will sing a program at 9 o'clock tonight over WSB and broadcast by Sears, Roebuck and company. Among the numbers he will sing are "When Night Descends," by Rachmaninoff, with violin obligato, "The Gilda Manina," from "L'Albano," the aria "Quinta e Quella," from "Rigoletto," "Ich Liebe Dich" (Grieg), in German and "Tee Yee," by Dabey.

Mr. Warner began his musical career at the age of nine and for several years was solo chorister. He later organized and directed the popular "Warner's Seven Aces" orchestra, with which organization he made the money necessary for his European study. Mr. Warner's latest success was with the Emory Glee club last week in the club's farewell concert.

The Fick-Tonight-to-Retire half hour at 8:30 o'clock tonight over WSB and other Red chain stations will bring "Blue Over You," "In My Log Cabin of Dreams," "Ready for the River," "Spanish Shawl" and "Tomorrow," which will be given as orchestral and vocal numbers.

ELKS OF GEORGIA RE-ELECT OFFICERS

Georgia Elks re-elected all officers, and accepted an invitation to hold the fall meeting at Griffin in October, at the meeting of the executive committee of the state association held Sunday at the home of Atlanta lodge.

E. Foster Brigham, of Augusta, president, presided at both morning and afternoon sessions, and introduced the several officers for their district reports. The ensuing term will be Mr. Brigham's second as head of Georgia Elks, and during his time at the helm much progress has been made in the joint program among Georgia lodges.

Officers on Mr. Brigham's staff are: R. C. Broyles, Atlanta, secretary; treasurer, and the following district vice presidents: William H. Beck, Jr., No. 1, Griffin lodge; B. C. Lumpkin, No. 2, Athens lodge; Charles H. Smith, No. 3, Macon lodge; A. B. King, No. 4, Columbus lodge; L. G. Ehrlich, No. 5, Albany lodge; William Dooner, No. 6, Savannah lodge. Each district comprises three or four cities.

Nominating Committee.

Nominations, unanimously approved, were made by a committee appointed at the morning session and reported in the afternoon. On this committee were G. Phillip Maggioni, Savannah, chairman; Walter P. Andrews, Atlanta; John S. McClelland, Atlanta; Turner Fitten, Atlanta, and J. Howard Ennis, Milledgeville. An auditing committee, Walter B. Murphy, Savannah, and Leslie Hubbard, Atlanta, also reported on condition of the association's records at the afternoon session.

William H. Beck extended the invitation from Griffin to hold the fall session there. At this October gathering will be the 11th annual convention.

ering will be determined the city and dates of the state convention for 1929. No state convention will be held this year because of the grand lodge session in Miami July 9-13.

Many matters of fraternal interest were discussed at the meetings. The morning hours were devoted to introduction of officers, reports from district vice presidents, and committee appointments. In addition to these short responses were also made by J. Howard Ennis, of Milledgeville; Exalted Ruler Olson, of Columbus; Exalted Ruler Patterson, of Griffin; Exalted Ruler Williams, of LaGrange; and Exalted Ruler Traynor, of Savannah. All signified Elklod in Georgia is to be at its very height with a bright outlook for growth and expansion in respective lodges, according to plans already under way in a number of instances.

Following a report in the morning from Mr. Maggioni, Savannah, on conclusion of details surrounding the playground at Gracewood home, state association for feeble-minded children, at Augusta, the association decided to share $100 of the remaining unpaid balance for the purchase and installing equipment, and the remainder of $186 will be distributed among the larger lodges of the state. The playground was dedicated in January and cost $1,621.

As announced by President Brigham, a bill will be introduced at the next legislature for additional buildings at Gracewood home. It is commonly attributed to the Elks the appropriation which was made at the last session of legislature raising the maintenance appropriation from $30,000 to $80,000 per annum. Some discussion was heard on the proposed Elks national fund of $1,000,000 which, it is thought, will be created at the grand lodge session in Miami. This is one of the topics deferred until October for final action. The fund would provide a working capital for Elks lodges and community welfare work by Elks lodges and state associations all over the country.

Much favor seemed to prevail toward an Elks' hour monthly over station WSB, but nothing was done about it other than to sound the sentiment and opinion of those present. This, too, is also on the October assignment sheet for disposition. The idea is to give each lodge an opportunity to have charge of a musical program concluding with the 11 o'clock toast.

Between morning and afternoon sessions, Atlanta Elks and visitors enjoyed a dinner served at the home. The delegates and hosts were seated at 1:30 o'clock. Principal speakers were L. P. McCready, of Miami, president of the grand lodge session in Miami; Judge Heffernan, of Miami, chairman of the committee arranging for the grand lodge meeting. They spoke about preparations for the big entertainment and again invited Georgia Elks to "come down strong." Georgia lodges will be well represented. Mr. Andrews also delivered an enlightening message on "Elklod," touching the ideals of the order and the definite, practical purposes of its program in carrying out these ideals. The speakers were introduced by Mr. Broyles. The dinner was informal. Past presidents introduced at the morning session were Mr. Andrews, Mr. Broyles, Mr. Maggioni and John S. McClelland, Atlanta. Lodges represented by exalted rulers and secretaries were Atlanta, Columbus, Savannah, Augusta, Macon, Brunswick, Albany, LaGrange, Griffin.

REV. MEMMINGER DELIVERS SERMON AT GREENSBORO, GA.

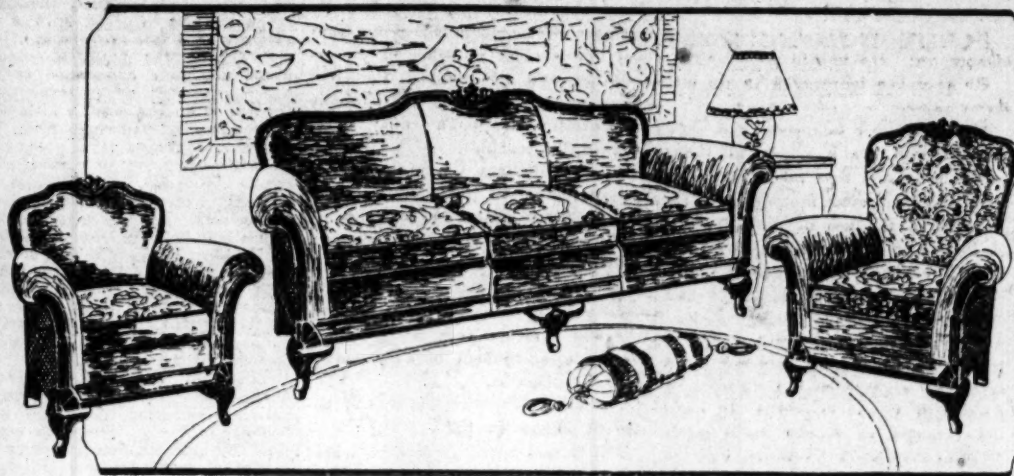

Greensboro, Ga., May 20.—(Special.)—The handsome and spacious Baptist church, beautifully decorated, was filled to capacity today to hear Rev. Dr. W. W. Memminger, of All Saints' church, Atlanta, deliver a very impressive commencement sermon to the graduating class of Greensboro High school. Dr. Memminger was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Robinson while here and he was enthusiastically received. A solo by Miss Martha Johnston and old-fashioned hymns by the choir and congregation, featured the music program.

VISITING PASTORS AT SECOND BAPTIST

The congregation at the Second Baptist church heard sermons by two visiting Presbyterian pastors Sunday when the Rev. John Van Leer, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Little Rock, Ark., spoke at the 11 o'clock morning service and the Rev. T. P. Johnston, of the First Presbyterian church of Kingsport, Tenn., gave the sermon at the late afternoon service.

Dr. Carter Helm Jones, pastor of the Second Baptist, was in Auburn, Ala., over the week-end, where he preached the baccalaureate sermon for Alabama Polytechnic institute on Sunday. Dr. Jones will return to Atlanta today.

The baccalaureate services of Washington Seminary will be held in All Saints' Episcopal church this morning at 11 o'clock. Bishop Mikel, of the diocese of Atlanta, will preach the baccalaureate sermon. Special music has been arranged by the organist, W. E. Arnold, for the occasion. The parents and friends of the graduates are invited to attend the service.

The seniors of the seminary will hold their class night exercises Monday evening, May 21, in the auditorium of the seminary. The program will be short but interesting. It will consist of choruses by the class; the president's address by Miss Boots Walker; the class history, by Miss Muriel Walker; the class poem, by Miss Jean Nutting; the class prophecy, by Miss Lillie Mae Mitchell; and the class will be a piano number by Miss Helen Thomas; a violin solo by Miss Jane de Bruyn Kops.

Miss Eugenia Nantz, editor in chief of "Facts and Fancies," will read the foreword and the dedication. She will also present a few complimentary copies.

The program will be followed by a reception to the seniors by Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Scott and Miss Emma Scott.

The seminary celebrated its golden anniversary Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock on the campus of the school on Peachtree road with one of the most beautiful pageants ever given in the history of the school. The affair was picturesque in every detail, with the al fresco setting of pine trees and colorful summer flowers adding much to the beauty of the occasion.

One number on the pageant program which commanded amusement and applause was the procession of girls representing the girl graduates of days gone by. In the dresses of each period. Among the alumnae who marched in the pageant wearing costumes representing various years were Miss Irene Smith, 1870; Miss Helen Wayne, 1885; Miss Martha Dowe, 1895; Miss Elizabeth Holman, 1906; Miss Ruth Jolly, 1910; Miss Veane Rankin, 1919; Mrs. Claude McGinnis, Jr. (Rebecca Ascraft), 1922; Mrs. W. C. Carpenter, 1847; Miss Elizabeth Perry, 1850; Miss Alice Downing, 1851; Miss Isabel Carpenter, 1857; Miss Charles Winship (Juliette Carpenter), 1880; Miss Rosalyn Lunsford, 1872; Mrs. Winifred Ramsey (Allen Longdale), 1907; Miss Isabelle Breitenbach, 1891; Mrs. William C. Warren, Jr. (Catherine Carter), 1880; Miss Mary Harvey, 1899; Miss Claire Hanna, 1882; Miss Yolande Gwin, 1924; Mrs. Joe Fisci (Josephine Clarke), 1925; Mrs. Marie Toulard Millet, of Boston, Mass., 1902; Miss Ellen Newell, 1905, and others.

Mrs. John Fitten McDougald, the former Miss Blanche Moore, wore the most original costume in the procession. She was a bicycle girl of the twenties. She wore a long full white duck skirt, white shirt, waist, with a black tie and a large sailor hat. She wore white hose and black low-cut shoes. Her representation was a bicycle which she rode in the procession.

A large number of former seminary graduates and members of the Atlanta Junior League were also in the procession in their colorful French peasant costumes which they wear at the tea room.

Woodberry Hall Commencement Begins With Sunday Service

The Rev. N. R. High Moor will preach the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of Woodberry Hall this morning at St. Luke's Episcopal church. A special program of music for Ascension Sunday has been arranged and the school hymn will be sung, led by the vestry choir. Oh, for a Closer Walk With God.

On Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock the graduating exercises will be held at the Atlanta Woman's club auditorium, when the baccalaureate address will be made by Dr. Thornewell Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe university. Dr. Jacobs is especially marking this twentieth anniversary of Woodberry Hall, as Oglethorpe is conferring its principal, Miss Rosa Woodberry, the graduate degree of master of arts in education, this evening at the Oglethorpe commencement. Bishop Mikel will address the graduating class and deliver the diplomas. Miss Louise Barclay, honor graduate, will extend the welcome, and Miss Helen Clark, first honor, will read the valedictory. On behalf of the U. D. S. Mrs. Pendue will deliver a medal to Miss Helen Clark for the prize essay. Mrs. Ben Wiley will award the prize essay medal to the winner of the D. A. R. medal. Mrs. Richard Daly, president of the Woodberry Hall Alumnae association, will deliver a note to the best all-round girl. Following two choruses and the grand procession of the maids there will be held a reception in the banquet hall in honor of the graduating class, to which all are invited.

PRACTICAL—SMART.

If you have a little daughter of 6, 8, 10, 12 or 14 years in your home, you'll thoroughly appreciate Design No. 104, consisting of a vest and bloomers. These attractive undies can be made at a remarkable saving of durable fabrics that will give splendid wear. Elastic is inserted through a hem at top of bloomers, and through a casing above knees forming frill. For the 8-year miss, 13-4 yards of 40-inch material is sufficient to make both vest and bloomers. Batiste, crepe de chine, rayon crepe, cross-bar dimity, washable crepe satin, lawn and novelty cotton crepes are smart suggestions. Pattern price 15 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred). Enb. No. 11125 (blue) vests 15 cents extra. Suggest including 10 cents additional for a copy of our new Spring and Summer Fashion Magazine.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

THE SEALED IN EGG. BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

The home of Sunshine the Yellow Warbler is one of the nicest little homes of any of the feathered folk of my acquaintance. Great pains is taken in the building of that house. It is snug and dainty and soft. It is so strongly bound to the branches in which it is set that there is no danger that it will ever be blown loose. Good, very good, builders are these little folk.

There is no nest that Sally Sly would rather have one of her babies cradled in than the nest of Sunshine. She always makes a special search for Sunshine's home. This year, Sunshine and Mrs. Sunshine had built their nest in a bush growing beside the old stone wall in the far corner of the Old Orchard. Sally Sly had found it before it was half completed. But she had not let them know it. She had kept away from it. Only from a distance had she watched those busy little folk. But every day, from a distance, she had kept track of what they were doing. Once in a while she would fly over the corner of the Old Orchard and as she passed would look down to see how that nest was progressing. So it was that she knew when the nest was finished and when the first egg was laid. She waited until there were three eggs.

"Now is my time," thought Sally Sly, and where she could take advantage of the first opportunity, when for a few minutes that nest stood unguarded.

Sunshine and Mrs. Sunshine didn't intend to leave that nest unguarded for a single instant. But when Red-tail the Hawk passed that way, and Scrapper the Kingbird boldly flew out to attack him and all the other birds followed Scrapper for a little way, Sunshine and Mrs. Sunshine caught the excitement and went too. When Mrs. Sunshine came hurrying back she discovered at once a strange egg in her nest. She called sharply, and Sunshine came hurrying over. He knew by the sound of her voice that something had gone wrong. At first, he feared that the nest had dropped, but when he peered in and discovered that his egg, he understood at once. He looked at Mrs. Sunshine and he saw instantly that she had made up her mind what she was going to do. "To begin with," said she, "we are not going to let anybody know what has happened. It is nobody's business. Then we are going to seal that egg up."

The next story: "The End of a Long, Long Sleep."

Hornady Faction In Club Dispute Will Meet Today

Supporters of Mrs. J. R. Hornady, one of two claimants of the presidency of the Atlanta Woman's club, will hold a meeting at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the hall of the Joseph Hebersham chapter of the D. A. R. It was announced Sunday. At this time the situation is to be fully discussed by Mrs. Hornady's friends and plans for the next step in the contest will be considered. J. A. Branch, head of the legal forces of the Hornady faction, is expected to attend the meeting and outline the legal situation as it now is following issuance of an injunction Saturday by a Fulton county court restraining Mrs. Hornady from operation of the president's office, the order having been obtained by friends of Mrs. Charles Goodman, rival claimant.

At a meeting of some 45 of Mrs. Hornady's supporters Saturday a resolution was adopted and signed by those present objecting to the naming of the "Atlanta Woman's club" as plaintiff on the order issued by Judge Humphries, alleging that Mrs. Goodman and her friends had no legal right to act on behalf of the club and re-

SEASONAL CREDITS BEING EXTENDED TO STATE FARMERS

Seasonal credits of many millions of dollars for fruit and vegetable growers in Georgia and other southern states have been provided by the organization of the Federated Growers' Credit Corporation in New York city, it was announced here Saturday by officials of the Consolidated Apple Growers' Exchange, of Corning,

Ga., of which J. C. Porter is secretary-manager. This corporation is now functioning and supplying credits to growers in a number of states, particularly the south, it was stated. Georgia peaches, apples and watermelons will be marketed cooperatively, the national marketing association having a large Georgia membership.

At the fifth annual membership meeting of the Federated Fruit and Vegetable growers, held at the executive office, 50 West street, New York city, R. B. Chapman, of Florida, was named as one of the regional vice presidents. H. T. Bennett, of Bradenton, Fla., was made secretary. H. W. Jeffers, of Plainsboro, N. J., and Arthur R. Rule, were elected president and executive vice president, respectively, of the national organization.

Fruit and vegetable growers throughout the country are remarkably free of interest or participation in farm relief political controversies and through the federated organizations have undertaken to work out their own credits and financing problems with exceptional success, officials of the national growers' sales organization said.

During the period of operation of the national growers' sales organization, carload units of fruits and vegetables are said to have been sold on a direct line from point of production to point of consumption into 1,500 different towns and cities.

Adequate financing, with an orderly, national, cooperative marketing program constitute the firm forces of progress for the fruit and vegetable industry, which constitute the second largest commodity group in all agriculture, officials of the growers' exchange pointed out. The total annual crop value of fruits and vegetables are said to exceed that of such groups as wheat, cotton and similar crops, corn alone being the single larger crop value group.

Ottawa, Ontario.—The regular air mail service to take in Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto will start on April 28, it is stated by postoffice officials here. Mail will be taken off the first Atlantic steamer arriving at Rimouski on its way up the St. Lawrence. It will be carried by plane to Montreal.

It is expected the plane will leave Rimouski at 2:30 a. m., reaching Montreal at 6:30 a. m. The western mail bearing air mail stamps will here be transferred to a plane, which will reach Ottawa an hour later. From here a plane will set out for Toronto, scheduled to arrive there at around 10 o'clock. A return trip will start from Toronto, bringing the mail to Montreal for an outgoing ship.

CAMPAIGN PROBE TURNS TO SOUTH

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—Subcommittees of the senate presidential campaign investigating bodies will hold hearings tomorrow in two places, two members sitting at Raleigh, N. C., and the other three convening in Washington.

Senator Steiwer, republican, Oregon, the chairman, and Senator Benton, democrat, New Mexico, left today for the North Carolina city to inquire from more than a dozen witnesses there about charges of heavy expenditures in that state on behalf of Alfred E. Smith.

Under the chairmanship of Senator Barkley, democrat, Kentucky, the other three members will question Chesley W. Jurney, secretary to Senator Copeland, democrat, New York, about his activities in organization work in Texas during the past two years on behalf of the New York governor.

Having summoned witnesses from various parts of North Carolina, Steiwer and Benton will sit at the state house beginning at 9 a. m. to question them. They include not only those active on behalf of Smith, but also those working for Representative Cordell Hull, of Tennessee, who has entered the race against Smith at the behest of Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, recognized head of the democratic organization in that state and an avowed opponent of Smith.

Before leaving Washington Chairman Steiwer said it would be the purpose to hear all sides in the bitter controversy that is raging in the southern state over the delegates who are to be elected at the forthcoming state convention.

Chief among the witnesses will be John G. Dawson, of Tennessee, director of the Smith forces; W. Q. Jones, of Raleigh, reputed to be treasurer of the Smith organization; Zeb V. Turlington, of Mooreville, manager of the Hull forces; Charles Webb, owner of the Asheville Citizen, and Thomas A. Jones, of Asheville.

Tennessee Suicide

Nashville, Tenn., May 20.—(AP)—The body of a man, throat slit and with a razor lying nearby, was found late this afternoon not far from a roadway near Old Hickory, Tenn. Letters were found in the clothing addressed from the Dupont Rayon corporation at Old Hickory to J. S. Lemons, Putaski, Va. The last of them was mailed May 11.

SHOALS MEASURE GETS AGREEMENT

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—Agreement was reached today by conferees of the senate and house on the Norris-Morin government operation Muscle Shoals bill.

The compromise, which will be put to an early vote in both houses, embodies the house plan for creation of a federal corporation to operate the properties for the manufacture of both fertilizers and nitrates and the sale of power.

The house before passing the Morin measure last week eliminated the provision for fertilizer manufacture and sale, restricting the operations of the proposed corporation to the manufacture of nitrates alone.

The Norris bill as passed by the senate earlier in the session called for fertilizer manufacture, and the conferees said the compromise retained the nitrate features of the house measure and the fertilizer features of the senate bill.

In addition, the agreement retains the Rees-House amendment to construction of Cove Creek dam on the upper waters of the Tennessee river; the provisions of both bills for the completion of dam No. 2 and an appropriation of $10,000,000 to constitute the proposed corporation's capital stock of which amount $2,000,000 would be used at the outset to initiate work on the Cove Creek structure.

The conferees, however, decided to reduce from five to three the number of members of the corporation's board of directors, but agreed to the proposal to empower the board to appoint a general manager and two assistant general managers to direct the corporation's activities. The three board members would be appointed by the president subject to senate confirmation.

Once before in the long controversy in congress over the disposition of the shoals properties, a bill got through both the house and senate but the legislation was blocked by failure of the later body to approve the conference agreement.

BARTON CHARGES BAPTIST LEADER IS SMITH WORKER

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 20.—(AP) Accusations that Sam Whitaker, Baptist Bible class teacher and opponent of a resolution adopted by the Southern Baptist convention, denouncing an unnamed presidential candidate, was a "representative of Tammany" were made in a formal statement tonight by Dr. A. J. Barton, chairman of the convention's social service committee. The charges were denied by Mr. Whitaker as matter "intended to be slanderous," and untrue.

FLOWER FESTIVAL AT "WREN'S NEST" POSTPONED WEEK

The eighteenth annual May Festival of Flowers, which was to have been held at the "Wren's Nest" last Saturday, has been postponed for a week because of weather conditions.

The affair is being sponsored by the Uncle Remus Memorial association and will be held next Saturday at the former home of Joel Chandler Harris in West End.

MRS. EMMA G. DICK DIES AT HOSPITAL

Mrs. Emma Goldsmith Dick, 39, of 373 Fifth street, N. E., died late Sunday afternoon at a local hospital. She is survived by her husband; a daughter, Annabelle, a son, Carson, and her mother, Mrs. C. L. Goldsmith. Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock from the chapel of A. W. & L. Lowndes company.

Mrs. Dick was active for many years in the Sunday school and missionary work of the Trinity Methodist church.

FORMER MISSIONARY TALKS ABOUT CHINA

The Rev. H. L. Reeder, Presbyterian pastor of Menlo, Ga., was a guest at the Grant Park Methodist church Sunday night and gave an address in which he told much interesting information about China, gleaned during his 10 years in that country as a missionary of the Presbyterian church.

Among other things the Rev. Reeder stated that, in his opinion, the statement recently made by a British statesman to the effect that missionaries in China could be blamed for present warfare there was partially true. The missionaries, he said, had made the Chinese realize that they were being exploited by foreigners and by their own selfish leaders, and in so far as the wars in China now are the struggles of the people to free themselves from the tyranny of foreign and native rulers they have been partly caused by the missionaries. He also expressed the opinion that Chinese people earnestly desire a real democracy and are working steadily, if slowly, to that end.

Chicago, May 20.—(Special)—Consecration of bishops was the feature of the day at the general conference of the A. M. E. church in session in this city. Bishop J. S. Flipper led the program, which was as follows: Prayer by Bishop W. H. Heard; hymn by Bishop J. Albert Johnson; first scripture by Bishop J. S. Flipper; second scripture by Bishop W. D. Johnson; ritual by Bishop R. C. Ransom; second scripture by Bishop A. J. Carey; third hymn by Bishop W. H. Heard; sermon by Bishop H. R. Parks; presentation of R. A. Grant, S. L. Green, G. B. Young and M. H. Davis for ordination for the bishopric; reading by Bishop A. L. Gaines; prayer for special qualifications by Bishop J. A. Gregg; direct examination by Bishop H. R. Parks; prayer by Bishop W. T. Vernon; consecration prayer by Bishop Joshua H. Jones; Bible delivered by Bishop H. B. Parks; sacrament and closing prayer by Bishops John Hurst, J. A. Gregg, J. H. Jones, the Apostles' Creed by Bishop William H. Heard; benediction by Bishop H. B. Parks; solo, "Open Ye the Gates," by Mamie White.

GOVERNOR SPEAKER AT WHEAT STREET

Governor Hardman Sunday night gave an address before a large congregation at the Wheat Street Baptist church. Included in the group which heard him were members of the colored churches in Atlanta. The governor was introduced by Dr. J. L. Bryant, pastor of the church, and his remarks were enthusiastically received by his listeners.

Ask Contributors To Palestine Fund To Cash Pledges

Atlanta Jewry will be asked to take a principal part in "Redemption Month" set for the latter part of May and June by special national conference of the United Palestine Appeal, held in New York Sunday through the instigation of Dr. Chaim Weizmann, noted English chemist and president of the World Zionists, according to a communication received here by Dr. Leo J. Frachtenberg, southern regional U. P. A. director.

Conversion of pledges made during the recent U. P. A. drive into a fund for immediate use in Palestine to maintain the reconstruction budget will be asked of contributors during this period. The southern region, comprising seven states affiliated with the Atlanta headquarters, is expected to raise $25,000 of its annual pledges for the occasion, while J. Saul, chairman of the local campaign, is appealing to contributors in this city to furnish at least $5,000 toward this quota.

The resolution adopted by the national conference, inaugurating Redemption Month at the request of Dr. Weizmann is as follows:

"Whereas, the present situation in Palestine promises increased progress in the rebuilding of the Jewish national homeland, and unemployment, one of the grave consequences of the critical period in Palestine for two years, has been virtually liquidated, and

"Whereas, all increased activity in public projects and in development of colonization work, is based upon the budget adopted at the World Zionist congress in Basel, and

"Whereas, the Jews of America pledged themselves to carry out a good part of this budget upon which the Jewish pioneers in Palestine are relying, and any default on the part of American Jews to provide the necessary means to facilitate Palestine's entry upon a period of progress will very seriously affect the entire program for the rebuilding of the Jewish national homeland, therefore,

"Be it resolved, by this national conference of the United Palestine Appeal, meeting in New York city on May 20, that every contributor to the cause of the rebuilding of Palestine be urged to redeem, by the immediate payment of cash, his pledge made to the United Palestine Appeal; that all contributors to the U. P. A. be assured that the immediate conversion of their pledges into cash will make their contribution to the cause of Palestine doubly effective; and that this national conference of the U. P. A. designate the period between the latter part of May and the first of July as Redemption Month, during which a national effort will be made to secure $1,000,000 in cash to be remitted to Palestine at this crucial juncture in its progress."

GIRL BREAKS ARM, ANOTHER SCALDED, IN HOME MISHAPS

Elizabeth McDonough, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McDonough, 727 Elkton drive, sustained a fracture of the left arm when she fell while at play with her father Sunday afternoon. She was taken to Grady hospital, where doctors set the arm and allowed her to return to her home.

Lucy Day, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Day, 961 Hampton street, was treated at Grady hospital Sunday afternoon for scalds on the right arm and leg. The injuries were inflicted by boiling water, accidentally spilled over the child.

THE GUMPS—SCIENCE VS. LUCK

Three Generations

By WARWICK DEEPIING

SYNOPSIS.
Old John Pybus, formerly a bookmaker in London and later in Winterborn, is serving as a porter in an inn at Castle Craven, when his son, Conrad, sees him there. He's been estranged from both his sons since the beginning of the war, and they have lost track of him. Conrad happens to tell his brother, Pybus, that he has seen his father. Pybus's of him. Pybus, had believed his grandfather dead, but he looks him up at the inn. Pybus, for the last time he visits his grandfather to visit him there.

June Sunday, and as it should be, on this Saturday morning a letter had come from Lance, a jerky, rambling, disconnected letter. It suggested some inward restlessness, or that Lance was trying to talk on paper to his grandfather while thinking of something else. It made old Pybus feel vaguely uneasy and insecure.

He decided that he would go out and walk.

Old Pybus retained his sensitive dream. It is possible that he had grown more sensitive, and as he took the path below the castle and saw the river sliding its swift silver below the young street of the benches he was conscious of emotion. Always he had understood those lines of Tennyson's—

"Tears, like tears, I know not what they mean." There were tears that are never wept, laughter that is never laughed, save in secret, on some autumn morning when the yellow leaves fall slowly, or on some evening in the spring of the year when birds sing.

Oh, that singing of birds in the green and chilly twilight, and the dead faces that were remembered, and dead springs! How poignant a thing was beauty, the beauty of this green valley, and of this England that was ceasing!

"I'm growing old," he thought. And as though defying the thought he struck a stone post sharply with his ash stick.

"Nonsense. Don't fuss. Nothing's so boring as fussiness. Old idiot, don't young men fall in love?"

But was that it? He paused on the footbridge over the Brent, and watched the swirl of water. The last week of May had been wet. Youth chafed life that, and fretted itself, and was driven by its own swollen swifts.

Old Pybus raised his hat to the river.

"Find the sea, my lad, find the sea."

He regained his tranquillity. He had a feeling for landscape, an old man's feeling for it, for he saw it as it was, and not as youth sees it as a mere setting for its desires and dreams.

Old Pybus went a little way along the hedge and past Mary Merrie's white gate, and happening to find a stump where a young oak had been killed, he sat down there. The music went on. It had what the Venerable called "a human cry." It yearned, and was huffed, and was full of life.

"Violence, and Why, and Whither?" It was blind and beautiful and sad, and it had the cry of a man who was blind.

The music ceased suddenly. It was replaced by another sound, the clatter of a light moving machine being pushed over a piece of grass. The Venerable heard voices.

"Mary—"

"Must you make that damned noise?"

"Sorry, dear, but I must get this done."

"Oh, what a fuss! If the grass is too long—I can't see it. But I can hear it playing."

"I thought you finished."

"Well, I haven't."

"All right. I'll mow the grass later."

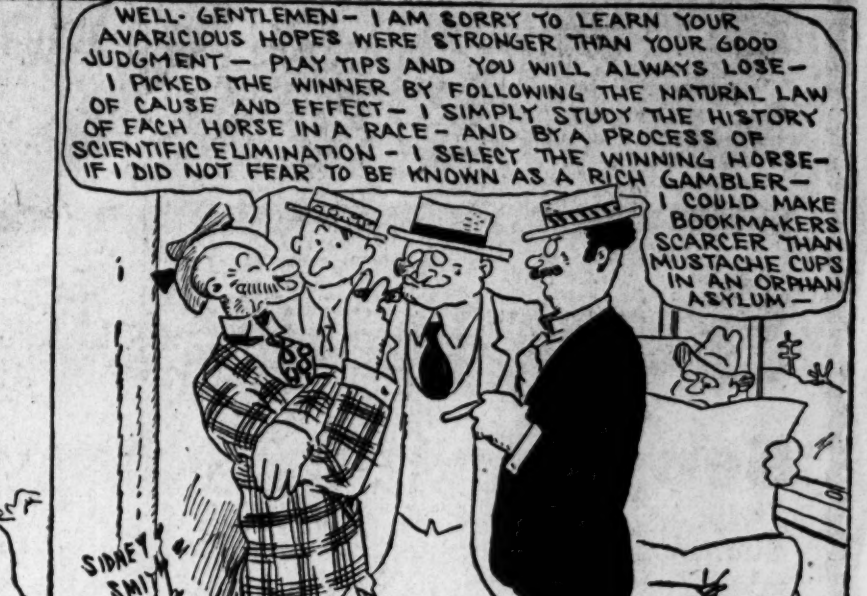

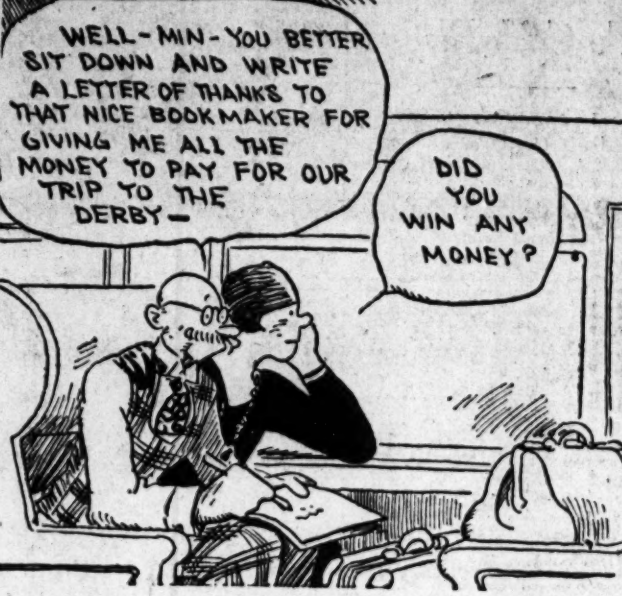

The piano playing commenced, but it was angry and egotistical playing, an outburst of childish impatience, in the garden there was silence, and the Venerable was intrigued by that silence.

He could picture the girl on her knees, with a set face, pulling up weeds. He seemed to get a sudden understanding of her life here with that poor spoilt child of a man.

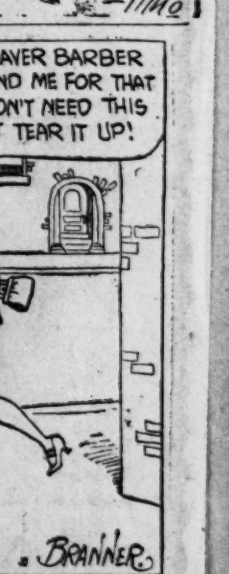

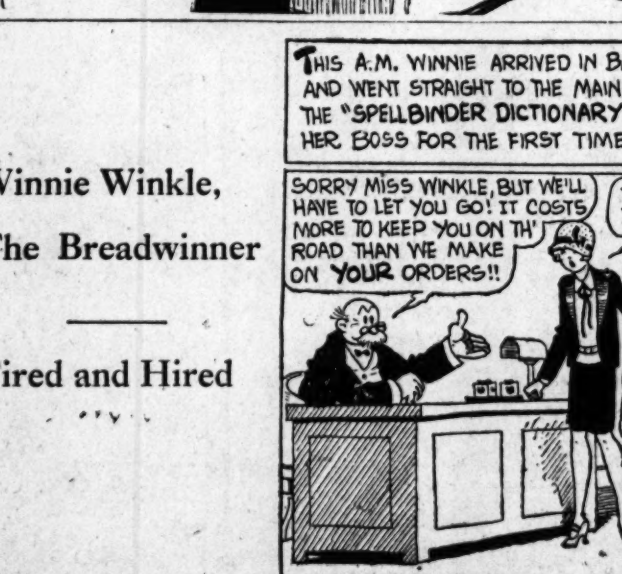

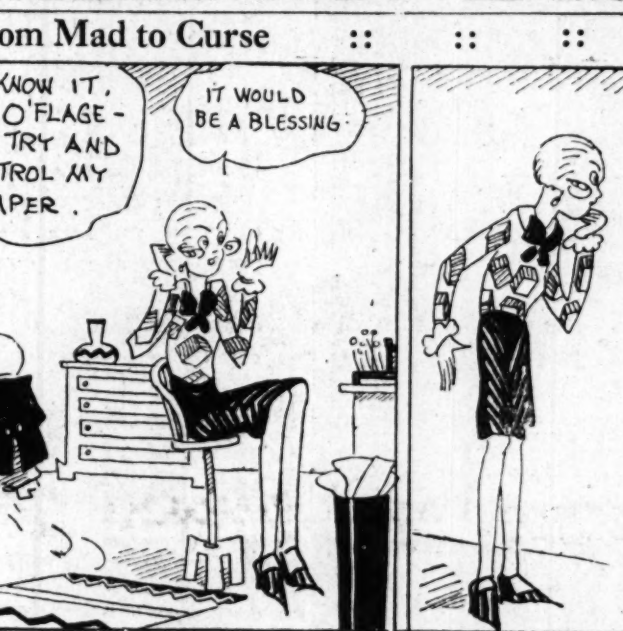

The devotion of some women, the patience of them! The Castle Craven bells began to ring out across the valley, and they had been at it for a minute when John Pybus heard another voice.

You think you have seen furniture sales before; you have read ads about furniture sales; you have talked to friends who have told you about furniture sales before, but honestly, you have never seen such a furniture sale, neither have you ever read about such a furniture sale, or has any of your friends ever seen or heard of a furniture sale like this one. It's a different kind of a sale. It's not a sale in which just a few pennies have been taken off of a price here and there to make it sound like a bargain.

On the other hand it is a sale in which already low-priced merchandise has been given drastic reductions. It's a sale in which it's our purpose to clear away absolutely regardless of cost every sample and odd piece in our main store—all surplus stock in our huge warehouse and every single discontinued suite from all our 10 big busy factories. It is a kind of a house-cleaning for us and will mean a house-refurnishing, money-saving event for you.

Keith's Georgia.

Big things this week at Keith's Georgia with the water carnival on the stage and a special picture of the pools and swimming places of Atlanta shown on the screen. The Constitution sent a special picture camera-man around to the different pools and several well-known divers and swimmers were caught in the water. On the stage is "The Street of Sin," one of the big water mysteries of the day and the act that formerly appeared at the New York Hippodrome.

Capitol.

Another great bill of vaudeville supported by a clever film comedy, "The Wise Wife," which stars Phyllis Haver, is on the Capitol program for this week opening today. In "The Wise Wife" Miss Haver is seen in the role of a young wife who is just about to lose her husband to a jazy young flapper. How she eventually becomes "Wise" forms the story. On the vaudeville stage is the headlining turn of "Caprice Coquettes," a beautiful dance revue in which the elements, fire, air and water, are introduced in a novel and startling manner.

Loew's Grand.

Another big double headline bill of vaudeville will be offered at Loew's Grand theater this week where the recent offerings have been setting a fast pace in the amusement line. One of the stars of the new bill is "The Street of Sin," a play in two acts, which is a story of a young woman who is seduced by a man who is a member of a notorious gang. The play is a story of a young woman who is seduced by a man who is a member of a notorious gang. The play is a story of a young woman who is seduced by a man who is a member of a notorious gang.

Atlanta Theater Being Renovated For Re-Opening

The Atlanta theater is in process of putting on its summer flurey in preparation for the opening next Monday evening of the Williams Players in their season of summer repertoire. Every seat in the Atlanta will have a new, cool, linen cover; while special arrangements are being made to have the theater thoroughly cool on even the warmest afternoons and nights.

The opening bill is "Jimmie's Women," one of the brightest farces that has come out of New York. It will serve to introduce to Atlanta a speaking actor, Charles Ray, one of the screen's greatest luminaries, who is declared to be even more effective on the stage than he was on the silver screen.

Robert Williams, head of the enterprise, reaches Atlanta today. The headlines will be Dave White and his "White Hawks" band with two pretty dancing girls as an extra added attraction. The other headline is Mike Ames, noted female impersonator, who appears in a gorgeous act entitled, "Fascinating Female Fancies."

Howard.

Emil Jennings has proved again that not need not be beautiful. And he shows also that realism, stark and powerful, is his forte on the screen, realism with a grim, human quality that burns into the mind. This time it is "The Street of Sin" at the Howard theater which it opens a week's engagement today. An up-to-the-minute stage feature will be found in the peppy Public presentation "Leap Year Fancies." Many notable and brilliant stars are on the bill. The production comes heralded as being entertainment par-excellence.

Metropolitan.

Lois Wilson, prominent and popular screen player, appears at the Metropolitan this week in a motion picture drama and also demonstrates her versatility by appearing in a Vitaphone act. One of the stars with a good speaking voice, Miss Wilson is equally convincing both in the silent drama and in the new form of screen speaking pictures. In "French Dressing" the silent drama she appears as the misunderstanding wife of a misunderrated husband.

Rialto.

Going into a third sensational week at the Rialto theater, "Tenderloin," the current attraction at that popular house, is slated to bust some kind of a record ere its run is finished. Featured this week with "Tenderloin" will be an entirely new issue of Movie News, with a score of striking shots in sound and sight. Dolores Costello and Conrad Nagel are starred in "Tenderloin" and one of the sources of keen delight is their beautiful voices, which have delighted audiences on Vitaphone for two weeks.
